CSR

technology TODAY, over the years has associates itself in the ‘greening’ aspect of Kenya, especially in relation to our nations’ efforts to combat ‘global warming’.
Thus, the company has and continues to expend a large amount of resources to maintain several roundabout in the city of Nairobi, by growing and tending to greenery, to provide a respite to the heart and soul of citizens,
In the corporate spirit of giving back to society, technology TODAY has been a major sponsor of Children’s charity over the years.
The company also associates itself in promoting sporting activities, such as Soccer and Golf tournaments, which it has done generously for the battlement of breath, fitness and, indeed, competency for our very sporting nation of champions.
technology TODAY is also very proud of the act that our staff members are active participants in a variety of sports desciplines.
we encourage this competitive spirit both at company level and family participation.
Thus technology Today is competitive both in business and leisure activities, culminating in a team of players who WORK HARD and PLAY HARD.
